Subject: Re: No 8.4.1 or 8.5 release announcement
Posted by chris_torrence@NOSPAM on Fri, 07 Aug 2015 21:10:19 GMT

On Thursday, August 6, 2015 at 9:50:40 PM UTC-6, timoth...@gmail.com wrote:
> Thanks Chris.
>
> Any new fixes to the IDE?
>
> For example the XML module that causes the whole IDE to crash (IDL-68766). I reported this a long time ago (with example code and steps to reproduce) and I'm starting to share my project with other devs that are discovering this problem all over again.
>
> IDE resizing when it shouldn't on Linux (IDL-69314).
>
> There are also constant crashes under Linux that I haven't yet found a reason for.
>
> Its really frustrating working with an IDE thats so buggy.

Hi Timothy,

That XML bug has been fixed. For the record, that was actually crashing IDL itself, not just the Workbench. So in that case the IDE isn't buggy.

For the other bug (IDL-69314), that is unfortunately a bug in Eclipse itself. We will need to upgrade to a new version, which is a major undertaking. Hopefully we'll have time before the next release. Sorry about that.

-Chris