Subject: Re: Change widget parent or duplicate widget. Is is possible?
Posted by Markus Schmassmann on Mon, 06 Feb 2017 16:34:13 GMT

On 02/06/2017 04:04 PM, nata wrote:
> I am using a modified version of the h5_browser and the widget > creation is way too long....
> This is why I was thinking in duplicating the widget tree that > contains the information of the HDF5 file. It takes a lot of time to > create this widget and if it could be duplicated, it would save a lot of > time in future calls to the program.
> Another option would be to change the widget id of the parent and > destroy the entire window keeping apart the widget_tree...
>
> Is this possible? If so, I didn't find a way to do it...
> Thanks in advance for your answers, suggestions or comments!
While i don't know the answer to your question, i can imagine that using the SetData Method might be used as a workaround so you don't have to recreate the widget more than once.

I hope this helps,   Markus

http://www.harrisgeospatial.com/docs/setdata_method.html