Here is my plan. I'm going to take all the money Dick and I made this month writing IDL programs, add it to all the money he and I set aside this year for retirement benefits, sell the car my hot-shot son thought he was getting for his 16th birthday to get even more money, and haul it all down to my on-line broker. Then I'm going to get the good folks here to goose Microsoft one more time.

I figure if they do it hard enough, I just might have a'nuff to get a small condo about 15 miles from the beach. :-)

Cheers,

David

P.S. Let's just say I could always flip burgers at McDonalds in the evenings if I'm short on spending money.

 Heh, that's what I was wondering. Tack on another $100k and I'll consider it. :)

Uh, is this the same Monterey, California that is in the middle of God's country? There wouldn't be a housing allowance hidden in here somewhere, would there? :-(

Cheers,

David

no, no, no. You sleep on the beach. That is the beauty of the offer.
