Does such a thing exist?

I want a dialog box such as dialog_pickfile or FSC_fileselect (from David Fanning) to pop up during my processing for creating a new directory where all the files from processing should be stored. It also would be nice if there was the possibility to show the directory structure... (such as in the above mentioned).

I know this is not far from a number of the examples at www.dfanning.com, but if someone has done exactly this (or knows how to) already....

Yeah, me too. But that still doesn't keep me from swearing at him half the time. :-)

Cheers,

David

As long as the user pays enough for the programmer to make the ends meet, I'd let him swear as much as he likes :-)
