It it me, or the IDLDE (development environment, I guess) of IDL 5.4 on windows NT is flaky.

I only recently installed 5.4, and every once in a while I cannot set or clear a breakpoint. The variable watcher is out of step most of the time, and ctrl-W that is supposed to move the cursor to the command window sometimes fails. Finally, (and this is from 5.3 at least), single-stepping will not function in the MAIN routine, only subroutines.
