

---

Subject: Re: Sparse support

Posted by Pavel A. Romashkin on Tue, 23 Oct 2001 16:20:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

trouble wrote:

>

> There are dozens of sparse routines on the web, why > doesn't IDL program some of them in...

Probably because those who want them are free to download them from the web and use them?

Ciao.

---

---

Subject: Re: Sparse support

Posted by Ralf Flicker on Wed, 24 Oct 2001 07:42:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

"Pavel A. Romashkin" wrote:

>

> trouble wrote:

>>

>> There are dozens of sparse routines on the web, why

>> doesn't IDL program some of them in...

>

> Probably because those who want them are free to download them from the > web and use them?

>

> Ciao.

Pardon my ignorance, but could you point me to some of those downloads? I'd be really interested. Thanks.

ralf

--

Ralf Flicker UIN : 65334076

Gemini Observatory <http://www.gemini.edu/>

670 N. A'Ohoku Pl. Tel : (808) 974-2569

Hilo 96720, HI, USA Fax : (808) 935-9235

---