Greetings all,
the message with the subject
"my pretty floor won't pour before I expect it"
sent from "Lisette Crittendon" will continually open netscape dialog boxes with the message
" HardDrive Reformatting "
"quick pull the plug, you might save something"

Of course, this doesn't format your harddrive, but it will open windows til your system dies, perhaps necessitating an annoying reboot. I was able to kill my netscapes before that happened (whew!).

I was using Netscape 6 on Rehat Linux reading this newsgroup.
The windows started poping up merely upon viewing it.

Here is the header from the message:
(it seems to call fllwu.html recursively)

Cheers,
bob
