Actually, I was touched by Wayne's comments. But at the moment I read his note, I couldn't come up with a particularly pithy comment. I set it aside, and the day's events just caught up with me. Before I knew it, I had to go prepare my team for the big encounter with the cross-town rival, and...well, I still haven't come up with anything particularly pithy.

But I do appreciate the note and I want Wayne to know that he is welcome and it is we who feel honored when people join our group and have courage enough to hit the SEND button. :-)

Cheers,

David

P.S. Let's just say we won, but it took us until the last match of the evening to do it. :-)
