Subject: Re: HDF SD names?
Posted by James Kuyper on Wed, 18 Dec 2002 19:43:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Bruce Bowler wrote:
>
> I'm starting to play with HDF files. I see in the documentation there's > a routine called HDF_SD_NAMETOINDEX routine that will give me the SD data > set index, given the name of the dataset. What I can't seem to do is > figure out how to figure out name of a dataset given it's index. Is that > possible? Sample code???

    sds_id = HDF_SD_select(file,index)
    HDF_SD_GETINFO,sds_id,NAME=sds_name
    PRINT,sds_name

Subject: Re: HDF SD names?
Posted by Bruce Bowler on Wed, 18 Dec 2002 19:55:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Wed, 18 Dec 2002 14:43:24 -0500, James Kuyper put fingers to keyboard and said:

> Bruce Bowler wrote:
>>
>> I'm starting to play with HDF files. I see in the documentation >> there's a routine called HDF_SD_NAMETOINDEX routine that will give me >> the SD data set index, given the name of the dataset. What I can't >> seem to do is figure out how to figure out name of a dataset given it's >> index. Is that possible? Sample code???
>
>   sds_id = HDF_SD_select(file,index)
>   HDF_SD_GETINFO,sds_id,NAME=sds_name
>   PRINT,sds_name

thanks! (you should also hear the sound of hand striking forehead and a
"simpson like" voice saying d-oh)

--
 +------------------+--------------------------------------- ------------+
Bruce Bowler | One nice thing about egotists: They don't talk
1.207.633.9600 | about other people. - Lucille S. Harper
bbowler@bigelow.org |
 +------------------+--------------------------------------- ------------+