Subject: Re: Hard crashes with device,/retain=2 ?? (and another question) Posted by condor on Thu, 20 Mar 2003 23:39:54 GMT

condor@biosys.net (Big Bird) wrote in message news:<df160b8f.0303201022.6521250f@posting.google.com>...
> For some reason the default retain=1 started working for me a while > ago ...

Stopped working. Not started. Stopped. I wouldn't bother you folks if it had suddenly started. :)

While I'm posting, is there a long-integer package for idl somewhere in one of these libraries that seem to have everything? I mean a package that can multiply or divide numbers with more than 80 binary digits? Just asking before I go and re-invent the wheel...