
Subject: context-sensitive menus on LINUX?

Posted by robert.dimeo on Fri, 30 May 2003 20:12:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,

Has anyone run into problems with context-sensitive menus not being displayed when attached to a top-level base on LINUX (i.e. when /CONTEXT_EVENTS is set for the top-level base)? I get it to work with WINDOWS ok and even on LINUX when /CONTEXT_EVENTS is set for a tree widget for instance. But it does not appear to work when I set /CONTEXT_EVENTS for the top-level base using RED HAT LINUX 7.2. Anyone else run into this?

Thanks in advance,

Rob
