
Subject: ENVI under windows?

Posted by harmer on Fri, 01 Jul 1994 10:22:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have just ftp'd down the compressed files for ENVI from IDL's University of Colorado ftp site. It seems pretty clear from the text files that came with, that this is not ENVI for a windows environment (I admit, I tried to get it to run under windows and it didn't work). Does anyone know how I can get hold of ENVI for windows, via ftp (or otherwise).

Mark

Subject: Re: ENVI under windows?

Posted by peter on Wed, 06 Jul 1994 17:39:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article 2E13EE51@ph.und.ac.za, harmer@ph.und.ac.za (MARK HARMER) writes:

>

> it didn't work). Does anyone know how I can get hold of ENVI for > windows, via ftp (or otherwise).

>

> Mark

>

The Windows version of ENVI is not available via ftp at this time (no license manager to handle temporary installation keys). However, an email message to "envi@rsinc.com" or the general-purpose "info@rsinc.com" will get your request to evaluate into the right hands. We currently can send diskettes and in late July we plan to ship ENVI 1.1 on CD.

Peter Hallett Research Systems, Inc.
Phone: 303-786-9900 2995 Wilderness Place
Fax: 303-786-9909 Boulder, CO 80301 USA
Internet: peter@rsinc.com Third Stone from the Sun
