Subject: Re: Get X and Y (sample,line) of an ENVI ROI
Posted by enod on Mon, 21 Mar 2005 09:11:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think the following ENVI function can satisfiy your needs.

ENVI_GET_ROI : Returns ROI pixel addresses as 1-D subscripts

*Note: The coordinates are in pixel and have nothing to do with geographic information.

Tian.

envi35@yahoo.ca wrote:
> Hi There,
> I want to do some math calculation with the coordinates associated with > an ENVI ROI file, the (x,y) or (sample,line). I googled this wonderful > group and learned how to open an ENVI ROI and get its index. I guess > there is another function to read the coordinates of the ROI, maybe > quite straight forward, but I'm new with both IDL and ENVI batch > processing, can't figure out how. Could you give me a hand upon this?
>
> Thanks, Jenny