
Subject: Re: To Haje

Posted by Haje Korth on Fri, 08 Jul 2005 18:20:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I apologize for snapping at you. Yesterday was a rough day and I did not know you are a novice to IDL. We have so many people going in and out of the forum (some with multiple personalities) that it is hard to keep track of them all.

Forgive me,
Haje

<francesca_terenzi@yahoo.it> wrote in message

news:1120840137.758385.191290@g47g2000cwa.googlegroups.com.. .

> francesca_tere...@yahoo.it 8 Lug 18:24 mostra opzioni

>

> Newsgroup: comp.lang.idl-pvwave

> Da: francesca_tere...@yahoo.it - Trova messaggi di questo autore

> Data: 8 Jul 2005 09:24:32 -0700

> Locale: Ven 8 Lug 2005 18:24

> Oggetto: For Haje

> Rispondi | Rispondi all'autore | Inoltra | Stampa | Messaggio singolo |

> Mostra originale | Elimina | Segnala illeciti

>

> Thanks for your kind words, Haje!!

>

>

> I said I was not an expert, I was just trying to help with the bit I > know.

> Maybe it was not a smart suggestion, but I was trying to help...

>

>

> You could have said that my suggestion was not such a good one, but > apparently you are not at all a sensible person, if not even unpolite, > and preferred to write the same thing in a way I consider rude...

>

>

> Thanks!

>

>

> Francesca

>

Subject: Re: To Haje

Posted by francesca_terenzi on Fri, 08 Jul 2005 18:48:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks, Haje, for your apologize.
Yesterday it was a rough day for you...and today it is a bad one for me, and that is probably why I was so sensitive...
Thanks again
Francesca

Subject: Re: To Haje
Posted by Haje Korth on Fri, 08 Jul 2005 19:02:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Just as a tip: Stay away from the FORTRAN forum. That Gerry Thomas that is at home there is probably the rudest you will ever come across on the net. (Paul van Delst, you probably know who I am talking about.) People here are usually friendly, including me. :-)

Cheers,
haje

<francesca_terenzi@yahoo.it> wrote in message
news:1120848515.301576.279640@f14g2000cwb.googlegroups.com...
> Thanks, Haje, for your apologize.
> Yesterday it was a rough day for you...and today it is a bad one for > me, and that is probably why I was so sensitive...
> Thanks again
> Francesca
>

Subject: Re: To Haje
Posted by [Paul Van Delst\[1\]](#) on Fri, 08 Jul 2005 21:31:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Haje Korth wrote:
> Just as a tip: Stay away from the FORTRAN forum. That Gerry Thomas that is > at home there is probably the rudest you will ever come across on the net.
> (Paul van Delst, you probably know who I am talking about.)

My kill file takes care of the more egregious posters out there.

> People here are > usually friendly, including me. :-)

I wasn't going to respond to this particular subthread, but since you mentioned my name....

While I'm very glad that the IDL newsgroup lovefestivity factor has been restored to its regular level :o) I do have to say that a) I didn't think your reply (that started all this) was at all rude -- succinct, maybe, but not rude, and b) Ms.Terenzi will need to develop a much thicker skin if she's going to contribute regularly to usenet forums. I don't mean that as a criticism of Ms.Terenzi at all - it's just that some forums can be a bit more, um, raucous and confrontational than others (it's all those C programmers and astronomers out there.... :o) Sometimes that can be a good thing
-- being told in a public forum that I have no idea what I'm talking about can lead me to deep cogitation and new discoveries (feel free, by the way, to tell me that right now :o)

Now, who also thinks that the first week of the Giro d'Italia was much more interesting than the same in the TdF? Oops.. wrong newsgroup...

paulv

--

Paul van Delst
CIMSS @ NOAA/NCEP/EMC
