The printer made a few significant misprints in my IDL book

An Introduction to Programming with IDL

Elsevier has reprinted the book, with corrections, and it should be available now.

If you purchased the original book and would like a replacement copy, contact Elsevier Customer Service at (800) 545-2522 to request a replacement copy and arrange return shipping at no cost to you.

The corrected books have a red star printed next to the barcode on the back cover. The books with the misprints do not.

Details on the misprints are available here:
