Hey all,

Sorry to be back for help so soon.

I have written a script to automatically run all of my data sets through my program. In my program, I define a few structures. I usually run the command .reset_session in between runs of my data because IDL gets mad because my code redefines the same structure. IDL won't let me run the .reset_session command in my script. Any ideas?

Thanks a lot for the help,
Branch
