
Subject: Re: File_COPY

Posted by Jo Klein on Fri, 11 Aug 2006 09:48:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What happens when you open a command prompt and enter:

```
dir /s /b D:\SCP_Folder\
```

and

```
echo test > y:\IRC_PARADIGM\test.txt
```

hyperjiver@yahoo.com wrote:

> Hi,

>

> I am trying to use FILE_COPY command to copy files from once source to > destination.

> I have the source as another computer mapped to my network. Destination > is another computer mapped through network as well.

>

> This is what I wrote:

>

> FILE_COPY, "M:\", "Y:\IRC_PARADIGM", /RECURSIVE

>

> This works.

>

> I had to do the same from the source computer.

>

> So I wrote the command as:

>

> FILE_COPY, "D:\SCP_Folder\", "Y:\IRC_PARADIGM", /RECURSIVE

>

> I get error message saying "Unable to expand wildcard characters or > file does not exist"

>

> I do not understand what is wrong here.

>

> Can anybody please help...

>

> Thanks,

> HJ.

>

Subject: Re: File_COPY

Posted by hyperjiver on Wed, 16 Aug 2006 15:33:44 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks for your suggestion. It was permission issue. I fixed it.

Thanks for your time,

HJ.

Jo Klein wrote:

> What happens when you open a command prompt and enter:

> dir /s /b D:\SCP_Folder\

> and

> echo test > y:\IRC_PARADIGM\test.txt

>

> hyperjiver@yahoo.com wrote:

>> Hi,

>>

>> I am trying to use FILE_COPY command to copy files from once source to >> destination.

>> I have the source as another computer mapped to my network. Destination >> is another computer mapped through network as well.

>>

>> This is what I wrote:

>>

>> FILE_COPY, "M:\", "Y:\IRC_PARADIGM", /RECURSIVE

>>

>> This works.

>>

>> I had to do the same from the source computer.

>>

>> So I wrote the command as:

>>

>> FILE_COPY, "D:\SCP_Folder\", "Y:\IRC_PARADIGM", /RECURSIVE

>>

>> I get error message saying "Unable to expand wildcard characters or >> file does not exist"

>>

>> I do not understand what is wrong here.

>>

>> Can anybody please help...

>>

>> Thanks,

>> HJ.

>>