

---

Subject: DOM and widget trees...

Posted by mattf on Thu, 24 May 2007 15:07:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Just thinking... wouldn't it be nice if tree widgets understood about DOM nodes? So, then, one could set the value of a tree widget equal to a DOM node... and all the child nodes would appear in the widget, automagically... And also, (continuing to think aloud here) since `GetElementsByTagName` gives a list of 'live' nodes you'd be able to show trees as they are altered in more-or-less real time by other processes. Wouldn't that be slick?

---