

---

Subject: Re: RSS Feeds to Keep Up

Posted by Edd Edmondson on Mon, 04 Jun 2007 14:50:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

David Fanning <news@dfanning.com> wrote:

- > To that end, I have updated my own web page with an RSS
- > feed so people can easily see when content changes
- > on the IDL Tips page. Just point your news accumulator
- > to the main page to subscribe.
- >
- > <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Very handy, thanks David!

--

Edd

---

---

Subject: Re: RSS Feeds to Keep Up

Posted by Michael Galloy on Mon, 04 Jun 2007 16:52:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On Jun 4, 8:43 am, David Fanning <n...@dfanning.com> wrote:

- > To that end, I have updated my own web page with an RSS
- > feed so people can easily see when content changes
- > on the IDL Tips page. Just point your news accumulator
- > to the main page to subscribe.

I highly recommend using RSS to keep up with new content, especially on michaelgalloy.com:

<http://michaelgalloy.com/feed/>

I use NetNewsWire (works great on Mac OS X and syncs between multiple computers), but a lot of people just use Google Reader now. I have heard with the new Google Gears that it will even work offline. But there's a limit to how much I want Google to know about me, so I think I will stick with NetNewsWire.

Mike

--

www.michaelgalloy.com

---

---

Subject: Re: RSS Feeds to Keep Up

Posted by sujian on Mon, 04 Jun 2007 22:46:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On Jun 4, 10:43 am, David Fanning <n...@dfanning.com> wrote:

> Folks,
>
> I'm probably the last person in the world to realize this, but > I attended a science writer's conference last week, where I > learned that one GREAT way to keep up with what is going on > in the world is to subscribe to the RSS feeds from your > favorite news sources. (I thought this might be pertinent > to those of you who are a certain age, if you know what I mean.)
>
> In any case, I installed the Wizz RSS News Reader, which > is available as an add-on feature to my Firefox browser and > I have already figured out how to add a couple of hours of > time-wasting into my busy schedule. Truly amazing, and WAY > better than using bookmarks! Absolutely painless and easy to > install and use.
>
> To that end, I have updated my own web page with an RSS
> feed so people can easily see when content changes
> on the IDL Tips page. Just point your news accumulator
> to the main page to subscribe.
>
> <http://www.dfanning.com/>
>
> Cheers,
>
> David
>
> P.S. I've almost made up my mind to get a cell phone. I > wonder what else is out there I have been missing. :-)
>
> --
> David Fanning, Ph.D.
> Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
> Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming:<http://www.dfanning.com/>
> Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")

i subscribed feeds from comp.lang.idl-pvwave but the replies did not show up in my feedreader 3.09...

---