
Subject: Re: Simple output question

Posted by cmancone on Mon, 04 Jun 2007 19:16:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Jun 4, 3:08 pm, ryans...@gmail.com wrote:

> This one im sure is simple.. but I cant figure it out or find anything > on it...
>
> Lets say I have this code:
>
> OPENW, 1, 'data.par'
>
> WRITEU, 1, 'more text = '
> WRITEU, 1, *info.M[1]
>
> WRITEU, 1, 'more text= '
> WRITEU, 1, *info.M[2]
>
> POINT_LUN, 1, 0
> CLOSE, 1
>
> How would I pring a newline in the output between the two outputs? It > all comes out as one line. Sorry, im a hack haha.

I'm not sure if there's a "good" way to do this, but I would do it a simple and lazy way. To print a blank line, just insert this:

```
printf,1,"
```

Subject: Re: Simple output question

Posted by ryanselk on Mon, 04 Jun 2007 20:42:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Jun 4, 1:16 pm, cmanc...@ufl.edu wrote:

> On Jun 4, 3:08 pm, ryans...@gmail.com wrote:
>
>
>
>> This one im sure is simple.. but I cant figure it out or find anything >> on it...
>
>> Lets say I have this code:
>
>> OPENW, 1, 'data.par'
>
>> WRITEU, 1, 'more text = '

```
>> WRITEU, 1, *info.M[1]
>
>> WRITEU, 1, 'more text= '
>> WRITEU, 1, *info.M[2]
>
>> POINT_LUN, 1, 0
>> CLOSE, 1
>
>> How would I print a newline in the output between the two outputs? It >> all comes out as one line. Sorry, im a hack haha.
>
> I'm not sure if there's a "good" way to do this, but I would do it a > simple and lazy way. To print a blank line, just insert this:
>
> printf,1,"
```

Thank-you so much I got it working good now!

I knew it would be something easy like that!
