Hi all,

Recently there was some discussion about data acquisition under IDL. We made available some of our source code and I was suprised at the response. It appears that there may be a need for a forum for the exchange of ideas and source code pertaining to hardware interfacing and data acquisition under IDL.

I have developed a preliminary WWW site as a repository for this type of information. Currently our source code is available at this site. I would like to gather source code from other people who have written data acquisition programs for any of the platforms IDL runs on.

Please let me know if you think there is a need for this type of information. Also, check out the site and send me any comments or criticisms you may have. This site will continue to evolve.
