
Subject: image analysis specialist needed
Posted by Babs on Mon, 03 Mar 2008 07:52:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,

I am working for a company in Belgium that makes IDL-based software for cell and tissue recognition based on image analysis. We currently are looking for an image analysis specialist who can develop core image analysis algorithms for new applications. Comprehensive expertise in image analysis, preferable on biomedical applications is a must (master degree + experience or PhD in math, physics, engineering or informatics). Collaborations based on a consultancy fee are preferred (can be international) but we can also work with open-ended contracts for a position here in Belgium.

If you are interested in this job offer (or if you know anyone who might be interested), please send a mail to barbara.weyn@gmail.com

Thanks!
Babs
