Ladies and Gentlemen,

Two related questions:

1. I've been looking at using ROBOdoc for automatically documenting my IDL routines. It seems to do a fairly good job, although my initial attempts at LaTeX don't look nearly as nice as the HTML output. Does anyone have any experience in using this?

2. I think that the official IDL online documentation is lovely (at least to look at). Does anyone know what they are using?

I apologise if this subject has already been discussed as I've just joined the group!

Thanks in advance,

Cliff
