
Subject: IDL FFTW3 DLM RIP

Posted by Korth, Haje on Sun, 04 May 2008 22:17:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,

Just a few words to those who recently inquired about my IDL FFTW3 DLM, which used to be available via the ITTVIS codebank. I have recently been informed by a known member of the IDL community who shall not be named that I am supposedly violating the GNU Public License by not making available the source code to the DLM. I am no expert in the law nor do intend to be one so I am not sure whether this is true or not. However, since I neither have time and interest to work out the legal issues of this matter nor do I have currently the time to bring the source in shape for publication, I decided to pull the DLM of the market. Making the DLM available was a public service without any monetary gain whatsoever. I never meant to tick of the community with this service and it will not happen again.

Cheers,
Haje
