Hi all,

I just bought a new computer and I want to install Linux and IDL 7 on it. I haven't decided yet on which distro I will use... I have experience with an old version of Fedora so far.

Many of you have had problems making IDL crash (X11 etc). Are you aware of any distro on which IDL would run without spending a few days finding and updating other libraries?

Also, I will ask here since the sale people on ITTVis don't respond much to my questions (I even wonder if they are still interested on selling IDL and Envi!)... If I get a single seat license for IDL and Envi, will this license work under both Linux and Windows on the same computer?

Thanks,
Jean
