Cool, thanks for the interest! I have thought about this for a while to scratch my own itch, but I'm realizing that others are also interested (the topic has been brought up on the newsgroup several times).

Leave a comment on the article if you have any feature suggestions, particularly if there are any magic commands (meta-commands to the rIDL pre-processor, not IDL commands) you would like.

The article is at:

I'll create a Trac site and email list for the project soon, stay tuned or comment on the article if you want to be added to the list.

Mike
