
Subject: Re: Reading DICOS format with IDL
Posted by [Mike\[2\]](#) on Wed, 20 Jan 2010 16:03:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Jan 19, 12:56 pm, Mark Quigley <mfsquig...@gmail.com> wrote:

> Hello all,
>
> The boss wants me to read DICOS format files, which are supposedly > derived from DICOM files. I've used the IDL routines and some home > brewed stuff to read DICOMs, but I can't find any useful information on > DICOS. Does anyone have any experience with this stuff, or know the > location of information/routines?

I've read lots of DICOM with IDL - Can you share a sample image?

Mike

Subject: Re: Reading DICOS format with IDL
Posted by Mark Quigley on Thu, 21 Jan 2010 15:04:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Jan 20, 11:03 am, Mike <michael.mill...@gmail.com> wrote:

> On Jan 19, 12:56 pm, Mark Quigley <mfsquig...@gmail.com> wrote:
>
>> Hello all,
>
>> The boss wants me to read DICOS format files, which are supposedly >> derived from DICOM files. I've used the IDL routines and some home >> brewed stuff to read DICOMs, but I can't find any useful information on >> DICOS. Does anyone have any experience with this stuff, or know the >> location of information/routines?
>
> I've read lots of DICOM with IDL - Can you share a sample image?
>
> Mike

Probably not. The information will likely have some sort of low-grade confidential classification.

I was just hoping someone could say, sure, the DICOM read/write programs in IDL will work fine for DICOS, or else have some insight into the differences.

Thanks,

Mark
