
Subject: Re: casting error

Posted by Wout De Nolf on Tue, 02 Mar 2010 12:15:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Tue, 2 Mar 2010 03:56:48 -0800 (PST), a <oxfordenergyservices@googlemail.com> wrote:

> Hi
>
> I have an error which comes quite infrequently, but it doesn't stop
> the program...it is a casting error, but I don't know how to fix > without the program stopping for me. any ideas?
>
> warning below
>
> % Type conversion error: Unable to convert given STRING to Float.
>
> Thanks
>
> Russ

This happens when doing e.g.
IDL> print,float('test')

To find out where this happens, set except to 2:
!EXCEPT=2

Subject: Re: casting error

Posted by oxfordenergyservices on Fri, 05 Mar 2010 09:46:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On 2 Mar, 12:15, Wox <s...@nomail.com> wrote:

> On Tue, 2 Mar 2010 03:56:48 -0800 (PST), a
>
> <oxfordenergyservi...@googlemail.com> wrote:
>> Hi
>
>> I have an error which comes quite infrequently, but it doesn't stop
>> the program...it is a casting error, but I don't know how to fix >> without the program stopping for me. any ideas?
>
>> warning below
>
>> % Type conversion error: Unable to convert given STRING to Float.
>
>> Thanks
>

```
>> Russ
>
> This happens when doing e.g.
> IDL> print,float('test')
>
> To find out where this happens, set except to 2:
> !EXCEPT=2
```

great, thanks!
