Use a newsreader and a good NNTP server. I had to look on Google groups to see what you were talking about.

Agree, it seems to be the nntp server, and how they run filters on the groups (that's a wild guess though). I used to see quite a bit, but recently (last few months) it has seemed pretty clean.

I use nntp.aioe.org, a free server.

And here I was, thinking that Google Groups were the "new" way of browsing Usenet.

Thanks guys, I am now using the Seamonkey Newsreader and all the spam is gone! :D
