
Subject: data changes fast / Integration

Posted by fd_luni on Thu, 12 Sep 2013 09:07:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi all

I used trapezoidal rule so far to integrate my data but because my data changes really fast it gives me underestimation. I used something like this:

$B1 = \text{TOTAL}((t[1:*]-t) * (A[1:*]+A) / 2.0, /\text{cumulative})$

Does anyone know any other way to integrate when the data changes fast?

Many Thanks

Mar

Subject: Re: data changes fast / Integration

Posted by Kenneth Bowman on Mon, 16 Sep 2013 19:58:10 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On 2013-09-12 09:07:46 +0000, fd_luni@mail.com said:

> Hi all

>

> I used trapezoidal rule so far to integrate my data but because my data > changes really fast it gives me underestimation. I used something like > this:

>

> $B1 = \text{TOTAL}((t[1:*]-t) * (A[1:*]+A) / 2.0, /\text{cumulative})$

>

> Does anyone know any other way to integrate when the data changes fast?

>

> Many Thanks

> Mar

Higher resolution or higher order.

Cheers, Ken Bowman
