Folks,

I have added an "error estimate" plot to the Coyote Plot Gallery today:

   http://www.idlcoyote.com/gallery/index.html#ERROR_ESTIMATE_P LOT

Cheers,

David

Yeah, good question. I'm in the process of being switched from one domain server to another by my ISP. As far as I know, the switch hasn't happened yet, and I put the new files in the usual place. But, I can't find them either using this link. Unfortunately, I am out of the office this week and this will be difficult for me to fix until next week.

Rest assured, I'm all over it. At least I would be if I could find it!
I'll let you know what I find out.

Cheers,

David

OK, it looks like I have been switched over to the new domain server, unbeknown to me. I put these files on the new server now, so you should be able to find them here:

I'm looking for other things that may not have been copied over correctly now.

Cheers,

David
