I am having some difficulty with a float slider in my application. I would like to be able to dynamically change the max and min values of the slider from the xmanager. I can do this with a regular slider using; `widget_control, (widget_id), set_slider_max = 5` (or some other int), however the same procedure does not work with the float slider.

Does anyone have any suggestions? Any help would be greatly appreciated.

Thanks,
Brett
