
Subject: Re: Which Hi-Res Coastline Map does IDL Use? Other good maps?

Posted by sterner on Fri, 24 Jan 1997 08:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

grunes@news.nrl.navy.mil (Mitchell R Grunes) writes:

- > Are there any even better (higher resolution, more accurate, etc.)
- > FREE hi-res world coastline map databases available?

Check out <http://www.ngdc.noaa.gov/mgg/shorelines/gshhs.html>,
GSHHS - A Global Self-consistent, Hierarchical, High-resolution
Shoreline Database. It's very good.

Ray Sterner sterner@tesla.jhuapl.edu
The Johns Hopkins University North latitude 39.16 degrees.
Applied Physics Laboratory West longitude 76.90 degrees.
Laurel, MD 20723-6099
WWW Home page: <http://fermi.jhuapl.edu/s1r/people/res/res.html>
