Hi Folks,

I've had a bit of trouble this week, with the end result being that I had to reformat my hard drive. As a result, I have lost virtually all the e-mail anyone has sent me in the last three weeks or so. There were a number of IDL questions in there that I had put off answering until I was back from Australia. If you were one of the people who wrote me during that time and I haven't responded to you, could you resend your question.

It may be that I still won't get to your question right away as this week I am off to England for a couple of weeks. In any case, I am not trying to ignore you. :-)

Many thanks,

David

P.S. Thanks to those of you who keep pestering me about my IDL book. I appreciate your interest. Thankfully, the book was backed up and I didn't lose much there. I am working on it in my "spare" time. :-)
