
Subject: Wanted: colour table good for high contrast grayscale output

Posted by i001 on Fri, 06 Mar 1998 08:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,

Does anybody know of a colour table that prints well with high contrast between steps when output to a grayscale printer?

I'm generating image from atmospheric data and would like to use a table that allows me to easily distinguish steps in the colour scale when printed on our monochrome laser printer. To make matter worse, the images contain a lot of detail.

Does anyone have any advice? Thanks in advance.

Iarla.

iarla@ozone-sec.ch.cam.ac.uk.no.spam
