
Subject: Re: Menu separation.

Posted by davidf on Fri, 04 Sep 1998 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Imanol Echave (ccaeccai@sc.ehu.es) writes:

- > Is it possible to include separation lines on a menu created with CW_PDMENU?
- > I've seen it on some applications (including IDL), and I'd like to include it on
- > my IDL programs.

I don't know of any way to include separators with CW_PDMENU, although you could easily modify the code to allow it. It is so trivial to build pull-down menus from buttons that I always make my own and avoid CW_PDMENU. This gives me great flexibility in assigning event handlers, adding separators, adding buttons later, etc.

Cheers,

David

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting

E-Mail: davidf@dfanning.com

Phone: 970-221-0438, Toll-Free Book Orders: 1-888-461-0155

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>
