
Subject: IDL library database

Posted by Pete Riley on Tue, 13 Oct 1998 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dear IDL users,

I'm updating my IDL web site (nis-www.lanl.gov/~uk2/idl), and in particular, I'm revising the library of IDL routines - something that's long overdue. I would like to make the database as comprehensive as possible, so I'd like to solicit new libraries from the IDL community. If you have a library of routines that you would like to make freely available, please E-mail me and I'll send you some more details.

I would also be grateful for any suggestions about improvements to this site. I have in mind a number of things, including (with the permission of the library authors) providing all the routines online. This would, for instance, allow people to download individual routines as needed as well as use the site as a comprehensive online help facility.

As we're all painfully aware, there's a great need for object-based routines. Even if you only have a handful of such routines, their contribution to this library I'm sure would be greatly appreciated. I should stress that your routines will not be modified in anyway and will always be appropriately referenced.

Thanks, Pete Riley
