I tried to reply, but my braindead mailer can't find it's way to you.

The answer is YES!

The fact is, many of the questions that are asked are rather specific, and not too much discussion will result in this case, so (IMHO) for this reason we don't see a LOT of traffic. That doesn't mean we aren't listening, nor does it mean that traffic might not pick up at times as topics of more general interest surface.
