And that just added one more unwanted posting to the following newsgroups:

alt.internet.services
rec.arts.disney.parks
comp.lang.idl-pvwave
es.alt.chistes
comp.os.os2.marketplace
sci.agriculture.poultry
za.humour

Please check the Newsgroups line before following up on such postings, or else you'll just prolong the suffering of people who read these newsgroups.

The best thing is to shut up, and/or send an email to those who crosspost to the wrong groups, and the problem will slowly go away with time.

Why don't you send THEM e-mail instead of me for protesting this intrusion? It was my intent to remind the folks responsible for this that cross-posting is an intrusion. I have every right to speak against it. I was very polite about it. There was nobody saying anything about it and I felt it was my duty and right to do so. Shut up I will not! It is not my habit, not will it ever be, to just shut up and go away. I ignore most of the ignorance that passes by, and a kind reminder never hurt when someone unwittingly offends. I do find it very offensive to be read the "act" for making such a reminder. I am here for the sole purpose of helping and learning about poultry-rearing practices.

If I had to bitch about all the stuff that offends me on a day-to-day basis (dogs shitting on my lawn, inconsiderate drivers, pompous, sanctimonious 'christians' etc) I'd soon find myself without any friends. Then I'd have to resort to sending inane complaints to news-groups to keep my mind occupied.

And apologies to those thousands around the world who are obliged to read this news group in order to obtain harassment. Hopefully you will soon be able to obtain harassment in your own country and in you own language. Let us pray...

Guys,

This type of "humour" is actually offensive to a large population (we are on air world-wide, ok?) and has no place in a professional user group such as this.

Cheap shots about religious figures may constitute harassment in many legal jurisdictions around the world, when the material ends up in company or government email banks. But it shouldnt be necessary to refer to legal restrictions - commonsense and courtesy are surely sufficient in an educated international group.

The pilot light on my flame gun is twitching...

1. How do you know they/we are guys?
2. I doubt Jesus is going to sue.
3. You are not "on air"; much as it gives your South-African soul a buzz to feel global, this is a discussion group, not a radio show.
4. This is not email; refer to previous point.
5. What legal restrictions? "May constitute harassment"? <snorts in derision>
6. Get your head out of your arse and go find a moderated group.

Look, if you don't like the jokes on this Newsgroup, just don't read them!!!
The titles are usually suggestive enough to guess if or if not this joke will be about or include religious figures. Use your head!!

Hey, just 'coz I'm Christian, don't mean I'm not allowed to read.-). Besides, the ones that offend me, I ignore (thick skin ???), the ones that I think are great, I forward (share and share alike.) But, I agree with Netuser: If you don't like 'em, don't read 'em.

Liz and Ron and iSI and Griesel and all the Wonko's out there - is this a new instruction, cause I lost the Instruction Book at birth
