Is there a nice way to control menu bar, in other words, to remove or insert menu items? Killing or appending to the end of menu bar is easy unless I want to insert an item between the existing ones. What is the easy way to preserve those after the inserted one? There is no operation like "move" for the widget tree, is there? Pretty much it looks like I need to re-create all menu items after the newly inserted one, pulling the contents from somewhere in the code where they were first set. Is that right?

Cheers,

Pavel
