Hi folks,

I would like to read in picture directly from a framgrabber into IDL, for direct processing of the images. I my opionon this can't be the most unlikely usage of IDL and I therefore wonder if there is anyone who has already done this and who would like to enlighten me in the do and don't and if possible send some code.

I have no specific framegrabber card in mind and I'm eager to here if any suggest of what kind to choose.

Cheers,

Gunnar
